

Join #IamRemarkable Week and celebrate your achievements

#IamRemarkable Week, 12-19 November 2020, is a digital experience open to everyone - featuring virtual talks, online workshops and confidence-boosting challenges. The objective of #IamRemarkable Week is to celebrate the power of workplace diversity, equity and inclusion and the positive impact allyship has on individuals and businesses as a whole.

Dedicate this week to drive diversity benefits and allyship within your company or community.

"Being aware of our own unique accomplishments, and learning about those of others, helps us unleash the power of diversity together as a community."

Anna Vainer, Founder of #IamRemarkable

What is #IamRemarkable?

#IamRemarkable is a global Google initiative that strives to empower everyone, particularly women and underrepresented groups, to express their achievements in the workplace and beyond.

At the heart of the #IamRemarkable initiative is a 90-minute workshop that helps participants learn the importance of self-promotion in their personal and professional life, equip them with tools to develop this skill set, and invite them to challenge the social perceptions surrounding self-promotion.

To date, #IamRemarkable has reached over 150,000 participants, and 800+ companies, across 140+ countries, with the help of 7000+ facilitators.

What does #IamRemarkable Week look like?

#IamRemarkable week aims to support participants in boosting their confidence by helping them acknowledge, celebrate and express their achievements.

Run digitally, the week will feature virtual talks and panel discussions with top business leaders and experts who will discuss a range of subjects, from confidence and motivation to diversity, equity, inclusion and allyship, together with #IamRemarkable workshops and confidence-boosting challenges.

As the commitment of leadership plays a key role in establishing and strengthening the culture of diversity, inclusion and allyship, #IamRemarkable week also aims to inspire, encourage and help support leaders in driving change.

Participate in #IamRemarkable Week as a company

Encourage your employees and peers to acknowledge and express their achievements. Join over 800 companies globally that have implemented #IamRemarkable in their organizations.

If your company is already part of our community	If your company is new to #IamRemarkable
Run in-house workshops to help your employees and peers to thrive. Visit the Facilitator Hub to download the exclusive company tool kit packed with top tips and various virtual assets.	Kickstart your journey by attending virtual talks and panels , or an online #IamRemarkable workshop . Get inspired and check out how you can bring #IamRemarkable to your organisation.
Visit Facilitator Hub	Visit Company Page

In case of any further questions about how your company can get involved, do not hesitate to email us at iar@google.com.

