Senior Software Engineer & Tech Lead

Helga is a software engineer and tech lead in Google Munich for more than 10 years. She works in Space Logistics, which is Google's team that creates internal tooling around meeting room logistics and desk booking. She is hard-of-hearing since her late 20ies and as such a member of the community of Googlers with disabilities. In 2019, she founded the employee resource group of Googlers with Disabilities (Disability Alliance) in Germany and Munich, which she is still leading. In her function she is an avid advocate for colleagues with disabilities, helping Google to improve on the inclusion of people with disabilities. Helga is also the Disability Representative ("Schwerbehindertenvertretung") for Google Germany.
