

Navigating your retail business through COVID-19

A guide to help retailers and brands adapt in a dynamic environment

As communities around the world respond to concerns over the coronavirus pandemic, we know that this time presents unique challenges for retailers of all sizes and the people they assist.

With many physical stores shuttered, retailers are faced with tough decisions — closing their stores, fluctuating supply chains, protecting employees — all while ensuring public health is the cornerstone of these decisions. At the same time, digital commerce has become a lifeline for retailers and we see millions of people doing product related searches on Google every day. We know that many retailers have the items people need in stock, but are less discoverable online.

Connecting people with information is what Google does best, and in my time here I've been focused on how we can create an ecosystem where consumers can find the products they need from anywhere, regardless of whether they're sold at their neighbourhood hardware store, or on their favourite brand's website or app. That mission has never been more important than it is today.

No one has all the answers, but through the tools, new product solutions, and strategic insights we've brought together in this guide, we're here to help, no matter what's next.

Using consumer insights to guide your approach

COVID-19 has changed life as we know it — and as we do everything we can to keep each other safe, our routines have fundamentally shifted. The necessary measures taken to manage the pandemic have disrupted the global economy and altered consumers' expectations, habits, and purchasing behaviour. Here are three high-level consumer behaviours we've seen, based on how people are interacting with technology.

1. Consumers are using multiple devices to go online at unprecedented levels

Connecting with the world online is more important than ever right now, with at-home media consumption increasing dramatically and permeating all aspects of life.

Among Canadians aged 15-49, 75% report spending more time on the Internet between March 29 and April 3, 2020<sup>1</sup>

Consumers across the globe are downloading and spending 20% more time using apps than they did a year ago, according to App Annie<sup>2</sup>

2. People are searching for information and content to meet essential needs

With retailers adapting to delivery or online models, people are looking for clear, specific information about where, how, and when they can get what they need.

↑ 100%

Searches for “curbside pickup” and “home delivery” have grown by 70% and over 100%, respectively over the week ending March 28<sup>3</sup>

↑ 60%

of Canadian consumers searched online for “what’s open near me”<sup>4</sup>

3. Consumers are adjusting their routines to be internet-first

As routines and schedules change to meet the demands of isolation and new realities, so have online habits.

In Canada, 23% of surveyed shoppers went online to purchase something they would normally buy in-store<sup>5</sup>

Searches for “groceries delivery slots” have grown globally by over 300% from the week of April 4 to the week of April 11<sup>6</sup>

As we work with retailers around the globe, we know that you are making changes to adapt to these new realities. While no one can predict exactly how things will go, we’re here to support you. This guide should help you prioritize recommendations to help manage your storefront as needs evolve, evaluate and adjust your marketing, and help your customers in new ways.

Managing your storefront as needs evolve

Be current and transparent

In a rapidly changing environment, your customers are looking for real-time updates on how your business is doing — especially when it comes to your stores and product availability. 60% of Canadian consumers said they searched online for what’s open near them from April 24-26, 2020.<sup>7</sup>

Update your business information

- ✓ Use a COVID-19 post in Google My Business to share timely information, such as safety precautions you’re taking to prepare packages, inventory updates, and how you’re keeping employees safe
- ✓ Edit your Business Profile to provide the latest information or manage your store’s temporary closure status
- ✓ If you have 10+ locations, you can make store edits in bulk
- ✓ Manage your delivery options to show whether your store offers pickup, delivery, or curbside pickup
- ✓ Indicate if your store offers “store pickup,” “curbside pickup,” or “in-store shopping” through your Google My Business attributes

Managing your storefront as needs evolve

People are trying to get the things they need — searches for “in stock” have grown globally by over 70% from the week of March 28 to April 4.<sup>8</sup>

Keep your inventory up to date

Use feed uploads and automatic item updates to keep your online product data fresh. For in-store items, use incremental feeds in your local inventory ads

Use feed rules to make quick updates, such as product availability in your primary feed or store closures in your local inventory feeds

If items are running low, set a purchase quantity limit or mark them as “out of stock” for online items. For in-store items, mark them as “limited availability” or “out of stock”

Make sure your shipping and delivery information is accurate

THRIVE
- MARKET -

Thrive Market proactively let their customers know they increased stock in high-demand categories such as immunity, cleaning, and pantry staples. They also led with their values by letting customers know that they will never engage in surge pricing.

Consider flexible delivery options

As consumers show more interest in safer shopping methods like home delivery, curbside pickup, and in-store pickup, consider trying contactless shopping options and letting your customers know.

Searches for “home delivery” have grown globally by over 100% from the week of March 21 to the week of March 28<sup>9</sup>

Searches for “curbside pickup” have grown globally by 70% from the week of March 21 to the week of March 28<sup>10</sup>

BEST BUY

After Best Buy saw demand surge for products that people need to work or learn from home, the consumer electronics giant adapted and implemented curbside sales and pickup, allowing customers to stay safely in their cars while a Best Buy employee picks up and delivers their purchase to the curb.

Walgreens

Walgreens waived delivery fees on prescriptions to ensure their customers receive their medications without having to go in-store.

LOWE'S

Lowe's ramped up their curbside pickup services and changed delivery procedures with contactless delivery options.

Optimize your e-commerce experience

With over 90% of Canadians reporting that they are following physical distancing guidelines,<sup>11</sup> consumers are turning to the web for what they need. And with hundreds of millions of shopping searches on Google each day, it's crucial that retailers are connected to the customers searching for their products. Once customers are on your site, offering simple, easy-to-navigate web experiences will help them find the information they're looking for and improve their shopping experiences.

Evaluating and adjusting your marketing

Find the insights that are relevant to your business

Today's rapid market changes and abundance of data can make it hard to know which insights you should use to inform your marketing strategies. These tools can help you cut through the noise and identify how your customers' shopping behaviours and needs are changing.

of Canadian shoppers say that they are shopping for their home, now that they're spending more time there<sup>12</sup>

of Canadian shoppers say that they are shopping for items they want or need for after COVID-19<sup>13</sup>

Understand demand in real time

Google Trends provides access to real-time search requests across Search, YouTube, Shopping, and Images to understand changing consumer behaviour

The best sellers report helps you identify the most popular brands and products used in Shopping ads

Google Alerts lets you set up custom alerts for topics you're interested in to help stay informed

Auction insights for Search and Shopping indicates whether dynamics within your auctions have changed

Price benchmarks for Shopping ads show you how other merchants are pricing the products you sell

Evaluating and adjusting your marketing

As you identify how demand is changing in real-time, focus your inventory and marketing strategies on the products your customers need today. You can add products directly in Merchant Center.

Searches for “nail kits” and “hair dye” have grown by over 100% and 60%, respectively from the week of March 21 to the week of March 28<sup>14</sup>

HUDA BEAUTY

Huda Beauty, a global beauty brand, saw demand shift from makeup to skincare. To adapt, they reallocated search budgets to bolster skincare ad groups. Ad copy was also tailored to focus on self-care, directing audiences to a new, sitewide “Self-Love Sale.” Through this tailored ad messaging and responding to the increase in skincare demand, Huda Beauty saw a 75% increase in search traffic and a 262% increase in search ads revenue when compared to the prior period.

Depending on your marketing strategy, audience insights can help you focus on critical audiences to achieve your marketing goals or expand to new audiences for greater reach or increased conversions.

Evaluating and adjusting your marketing

Understand your existing customers and find new customers

Audience reports in Google Analytics can give you a deep-dive into who has visited your website, including their interests and behaviours

Audience insights can help you find new customers by revealing valuable insights about the people in your remarketing lists

Reach planner can help you find audiences and understand the reach of your Video campaigns

Adjust your marketing campaigns

As your business responds to quickly changing markets, flexibility in your marketing approach is key. Update your marketing campaigns so your approach is aligned with the new climate.

- ✓ Use location exclusions to exclude your ads in regions where you can't operate, such as areas where your supply chain is disrupted or conversion rates are impacted
- ✓ Enable ad scheduling to control when your ads appear and adjust bids accordingly
- ✓ For products that are affected by supply and demand issues, consider pausing ad groups or ads
- ✓ Set content exclusions and placement exclusions to limit where your ads appear to remain sensitive to customer concerns

Optimize your marketing campaigns using real-time signals

Under changing conditions like these, using automated bidding can help you quickly adjust your marketing to the current situation, even if you were previously bidding for store visits. Implement automated bidding like Maximum conversion value, Target CPA, Target ROAS, and Smart Shopping Campaigns to make real-time bid adjustments to meet consumer behaviour. Monitor your optimization score and recommendations, which reflect new ways to improve campaign performance based on shifting demands and market changes.

eSalon, a direct-to-consumer custom hair colour company, responded to increased demand by creating a comprehensive Search and Display strategy that uses automated bidding. With this approach in place, eSalon was able to automatically meet the surge in demand during COVID-19 while beating their CPA goals using Target CPA. This led to 600% sales growth compared to the prior two-week period.

Review performance metrics and be willing to pivot

Use Performance Planner to reallocate budget to the most efficient campaigns and optimize your bids and budgets to capture new opportunities

Implement shared budgets to automatically allocate budgets to campaigns that are performing better

Apply RLSA, Customer Match, and similar audiences with Smart Bidding to identify and optimize bidding for your most profitable audiences

Helping your customers in new ways

Let customer needs guide your response as you adapt

Brands that are helpful to their customers will have an opportunity to stand out above the rest. In fact, 84% of surveyed U.S. consumers say that how companies or brands act now will affect their future loyalty.<sup>15</sup> In these changing times, being flexible with cancellations, refunds, and customer service can go a long way toward building customer trust. Turn on messaging in the Google My Business app and extend your customer service phone hours to be there for your customers when they need your support.

Above all, remember that your customers' lives are changing rapidly, too. One in five Canadian consumers are struggling to find the products they want or need, and bought brands they don't normally buy.<sup>16</sup> Many retailers have changed how they operate in order to sustain business and help customers in new ways.

of consumers say brands should talk about how they are helpful now<sup>17</sup>

Over 1 in 3 consumers globally started using a new brand because of the innovative or compassionate way they responded to the pandemic<sup>18</sup>

Reformation

Sustainable fashion brand Reformation partnered with Los Angeles Mayor Eric Garcetti to launch LA Protects, an initiative to organize local manufacturers – who are not already in the protective gear supply chain – to ramp up production of non-medical masks.

Peloton has extended the free trial of its workout app to 90 days for individuals stuck at home during the pandemic. They also pledged \$1 million to cover two months of membership fees for customers in financial hardship.

Adjust your creative and media campaigns for context and tone

As the situation evolves, continue to reassess the context and tone of your marketing messages. Conduct a creative review of your ads and landing pages to gauge whether the language and imagery are appropriate. Make sure you're sensitive to how certain words could make your audience feel, especially those with double meanings like "protection," "checkup," "prevention," and "virus." For international campaigns, be aware of local terms that have been used to reference COVID-19 and regional disruptions.

Preparing for what's next

Communicate business updates and store reopening

As you prepare for stores to reopen, continue to be transparent and communicate with your employees and customers. Create a COVID-19 post in Google My Business to let your customers know that you're responding to local conditions and government guidelines.

If you have multiple store locations, you may be considering a phased approach to reopening. In Google My Business, you can reopen a location or multiple locations with the Google My Business API. You may want to consider reactivating your paused Local Campaigns and updating your ads with updated business hours.

Adapt to lasting consumer behaviours

When we look at past crises, the businesses that weathered uncertain times stayed in contact with their customers, acted fast, and invested in preparing for recovery. In China, the 2003 SARS outbreak led to the birth of some of China's largest online retailers. Even as stores begin to reopen, online shopping will likely keep growing.

Planning for recovery will require adapting to long-term changes in consumer behaviour. For example, social distancing could accelerate the trend of home as headquarters — which makes it important to stay up to date on the latest consumer trends. While we don't know when the disruptive shifts of this crisis will be resolved, we do know that remaining flexible is the key to staying connected with customers and giving them the support they need. Only time will tell if certain consumer behaviour shifts are here to stay, but the result will be a lasting increase in the move to digital.
