Match your campaign to your goals

Promote offers 3 distinct campaign goals depending on what you want to achieve:

Audience growth

Let's get you more subscribers.

Promote optimises the campaign to reach viewers who are most likely to subscribe to your channel.

Video views

Let's pump up those views.

Promote will display your video ad to viewers who are likely to be interested in watching it, helping you boost its visibility and reach.

Website visits

Let's get people to your website.

Promote will optimise your campaign to encourage viewers to click through to your website of choice, helping you promote products, services, or other online content.

Note: Any subscribers and watch time gained from Promote spending will not count towards YouTube Partner Programme (YPP) eligibility.

Success story: Escola Para YouTubers

Education | Established creator

Goals:

- Video views
- Website visits

Results:

2x Increase in sales

7x Return on investment

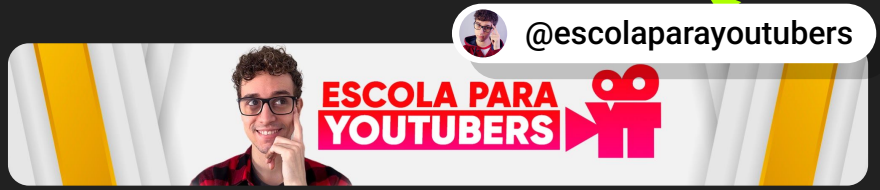
Escola para YouTubers create videos that educate creators on how to grow their channel. They started experimenting with Promote to see if it could help increase their course sales. They promoted two key videos to help drive traffic to the courses on their website and saw a boost in sales and revenue that far outpaced their ad spend.



"Promotions are a great solution for creating Ads. With just a few clicks, my promotions are up and running. It's a simple setup process that's perfect for creators like me."

Caique Pereira
Creator of Escola para YouTubers

VIDEO SELECTION

Choosing the right videos for Promote

It all starts with the right videos. Outside of needing to be longer than 10 seconds, consider the following to engage your audience:

Relevance to goal

Match your video's content to your goal. For instance, if your goal is to increase channel subscribers, choose a video that showcases the type of content viewers can expect from your channel.

Total video control

Choose any video on your channel regardless of past performance. Whether you want to boost a high-performing video or revive an older one, Promote puts you in control.

Audience appeal

Choose videos that cater to the interests of the audience you want to reach.

Ad policy compliance

All promoted videos must comply with YouTube's video ad policies. Ensure your videos are free of any content that violates these policies, such as inappropriate language, violence, or misleading information.

Understanding promotion policy reviews

How the review process works

Once you create a promotion, your video automatically goes through a Google Ads policy review.

The review will look at content including (but not limited to):

- Video content
- Headline
- Description

Click here to learn more about Google Ads policies

Violation Status

If a violation is found, the status of your promotion may be marked as “Disapproved” or “Active (Limited),” depending on the violation.

You can learn more about the violation by hovering over the status.

Note: Reviews typically take 1–2 days before your ad starts serving.

Examples of common violations and fixes

Political Content

Any content featuring a public office holder (verbal or image) now qualifies as an election ad

Fix: Complete election advertiser verification and learn more about the political content policies and the election advertising verification

Healthcare and Medicines

Certain Beauty/Health topics may be restricted

Fix: Review healthcare and medicine policies in depth, and select a different one

Financial products

Financial products and services content must comply with state and local regulations for any location your ad targets.

Fix: Go through financial services verification and learn more about our financial product and services policies

Editorial Punctuation, Symbols, and Capitalisation:

Emojis, excessive punctuation, and all-caps text

Fix: Keep copy clean and professional. Learn more about punctuation and symbols policies, and capitalisation policies

Quick fix: The fastest resolution for a disapproved video may be to switch the video for promotion. If you still want to run a promotion on your disapproved video, we recommend you take a close look at the policy that was flagged to understand why your video received this status.
Private videos: Please note that you cannot run promotions on private videos.

Success story: The Mönic

Music | Emerging creator

Goals:

- Audience growth
- Video views

Results:

- ~2x New channel subscribers
- 2x Video views

Brazilian rockers The Mönic were searching for a simple way to grow their fanbase and promote their music videos to a wider audience. While the goals were clear, the band had limited time to deal with complex advertising platforms. Enter YouTube Promote. Using the Audience Growth goal to expand their subscribers and the Video Views goal to accumulate video views, they were able to track the source of increased traffic and measure the effectiveness of each promotion.

@TheMonic

"It's a very, very powerful tool that every artist needs to know how it works. If you use it well, I really believe the results are really amazing. It's one of the best ways to promote your music."

Dani Buarque
Member of The Mönic

TARGETING & BUDGETING OPTIONS

Targeting your campaigns effectively

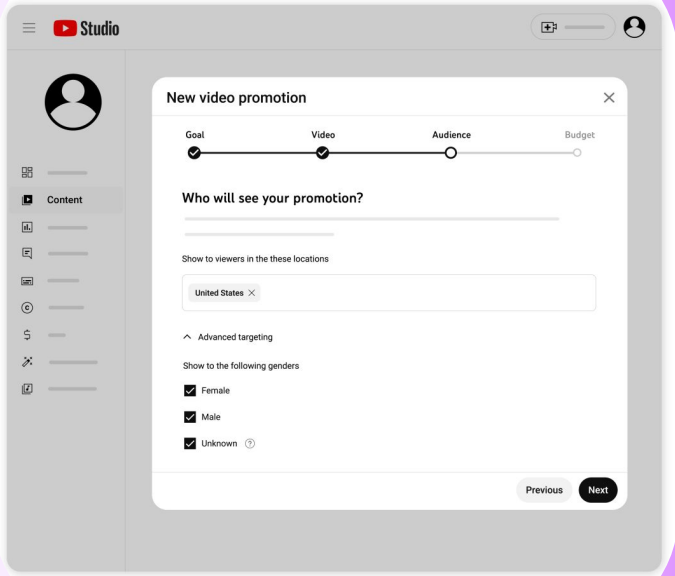
Choose which audiences you want your videos to reach through demographic targeting, including: Age, Gender, Country, and Interest

Interest targeting will be available on desktop globally by December 2025 (subject to change).



For the broadest possible reach, skip Advanced targeting controls altogether and select many countries for your promotion.

Note: Keep in mind that it may take 1–2 days for our systems to learn and optimise to ensure your promotion is reaching the right audience. While we will honor demographic choices, we may expand beyond the specific interests you select to help ensure your content reaches the widest possible audience that fits your desired demographic. Learn more here.

Determine a budget that works for you

Performance optimisation

Promote uses your budget as efficiently as possible to achieve your campaign goals.

Total budget control

You'll never be charged more than the total budget you set for your campaign.

Minimum recommendations

You can get results with as little as $5 USD, but we generally recommend at least $100 USD as campaign performance tends to improve over time.

Note: Billing will depend on the settings that are selected in Google Ads with either automatic or manual payments. Visit the Google Ads billing Help Centre to learn more. If you encounter any billing issues or have questions about your payments, you can refer to the Google Ads support team for assistance.

AD PERFORMANCE TRACKING

Monitoring key metrics

Stay on top of your campaign performance and easily spot what's driving success.

Promote reporting gives you the data you need to test different videos, goals, and targeting strategies to find your winning formula.

Impressions
Quickly view how often a thumbnail of your promotion is shown.

Views
Monitor the number of views your promoted video receives to assess the reach of your campaign.

Subscribers
The number of new subscribers after watching 10 seconds of your video or clicking your promotion within three days.

Total cost
See how much each campaign has spent at a given time.

Website visits
The number of visits your ad drives to your external website.

Note: Want to learn more? Find a detailed breakdown of key metrics here.

Making informed adjustments

Use data to improve your campaign:

Test different videos

Try promoting 2 different videos with the same budget and targeting. The results will show you which video performs best and help you understand your audience better.

Experiment with targeting

If your campaign is not reaching the right audience, experiment with different targeting options to refine who you're reaching and improve engagement. For example, if your goal is to reach a wider audience, try expanding your demographics or geotargeting.

Adjust your budget

Based on your campaign's performance, you can adjust your budget to increase or decrease your ad spend.

Success story: Bethel Music

Religion | Large creator

Goals:

Audience growth

Engagement

Results:

10x New channel subscribers

2x Return on investment

Bethel Music wanted to create a moment around their "We Must Respond" album, and began experimenting with Promote. Excitingly, they saw success running promotions focused on driving new subscribers. To keep the momentum going, Bethel Music ran a dual-phase campaign for their artists, the McClures, starting with a "soft intro" for an EP and following up with heavy promotion for a specific song. They discovered that the targeting offered by Promote helped them reach highly engaged viewers who were not yet subscribers. Today, they continue to use Promote with all new releases as an essential tool for reaching new fans and expanding their global presence.

"Promote is very flexible, very easy, and I'm continually surprised at the results we get from something so simple! The fact that you can run Shorts as ads as well has been successful just as much as long form."

Thomas Cannariato
YouTube Manager at Bethel Music

MAXIMISING RESULTS

Reaching new audiences

Promote is a powerful tool that can help you grow your channel—now and in the future.

Set realistic goals

Define clear, measurable goals for your Promote campaigns and track your progress over time.

Adapt and evolve

Be prepared to adapt your Promote strategy as your channel grows and your audience evolves. Regularly review your campaign performance and make adjustments as needed to stay ahead of the curve.

Integrated approach

Promote is one of many tools that can help grow your channel. Combine paid promotion with consistent video creation and engaging with your community.

Relaunching campaigns

Ready to keep the momentum going? With Promote Again, you can effortlessly relaunch your most successful campaigns.

It instantly copies all your past promotion settings, letting you restart a high-performing campaign in just a few clicks.

Need to fine-tune something? You've still got total control to adjust any settings after you relaunch!

Success story: RVi

Auto + Transportation | Emerging creator

Goals:

Audience growth | Video views

RVi, makers of innovative RV products, had a strong existing community of RV enthusiasts on their YouTube channel—but they wanted to reach a larger audience. They created general overview videos about the RV industry that would appeal to both RV newcomers and veterans alike. Then, they promoted them with goals set to audience growth and video views to reach a broader demographic.

"Do not base success or failure off of one promotion campaign. Run a few campaigns to figure out what your metrics are and how they measure up. Then you can make your decision based off of that."

Chris Bonham
Social Media Manager and Marketing at RVi

AD CREATIVE BEST PRACTICES

07

Developing compelling ads

Your ad creative (headlines, descriptions, and visuals) plays a crucial role in attracting viewers' attention and encouraging them to engage with your content.

Follow these best practices to create effective ads:

Craft engaging headlines

Write headlines that are concise, informative, and attention-grabbing. Clearly communicate the value proposition of your video and entice viewers to click.

Write persuasive descriptions

Use the description to provide more context about your video and highlight its key takeaways. Include relevant keywords to improve searchability and encourage viewers to watch.

Visuals that capture attention

The thumbnails of the videos you choose to promote will be the same thumbnails as when those videos appear organically.

For promoted videos, you should pay special attention to their thumbnails as they'll be what many viewers see.

Success story: The Beaten Trail

Auto | Emerging creator

Goals:

- Audience growth
- Video views

Results:

25K+ New channel subscribers

3x Revenue growth

Offroad extraordinaires The Beaten Trail wanted to expand their channel's reach on YouTube and increase subscribers, views, and revenue. They started experimenting with Promote due to its user–friendly and straightforward setup. Focusing on audience growth goals, they strategically promoted videos that had already performed well organically and used curated thumbnails and storytelling elements to spark interest with their desired audience.

"Promote has immensely impacted my channel with the amount that I'm making and the eyeballs that are coming in while maintaining very good organic growth."

Michael Herrmann
Creator of The Beaten Trail

FAQs

FAQs

How do I get support?

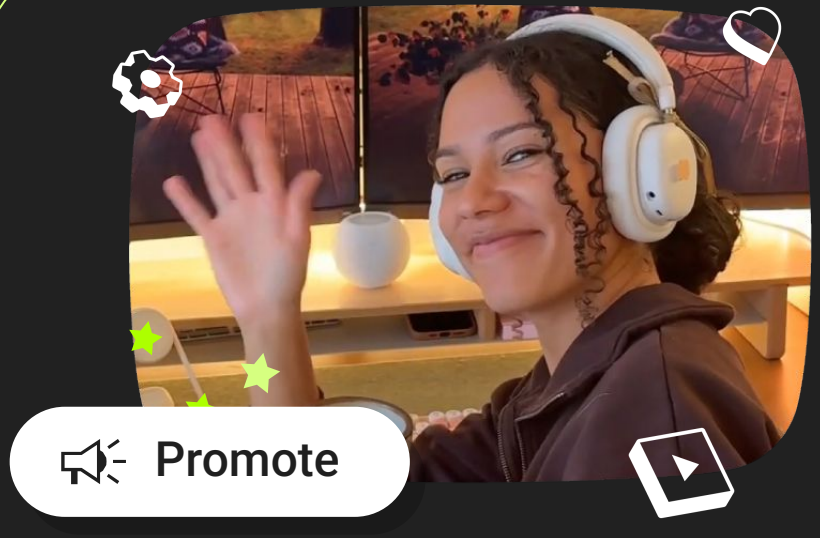
For help with troubleshooting issues in the Studio creation flow, contact our Creator support team*. For all other issues including campaign delivery and billing, contact the Google Ads support team.

Does Promote hurt the organic reach of my videos?

No. Using Promote to advertise your videos does not negatively affect your channel's organic reach. YouTube's recommendation system and advertising system are separate and do not interact with one another.

Organic reach is driven by how viewers interact with your videos when they are recommended on their Homepage, in Search results, or as a suggested video. The recommendation system focuses on serving the right video to the right viewer based on their watch history and engagement.

Promote is an advertising tool that is meant to be complementary to organic growth. The goal of advertising through Promote is to show your video to a targeted audience based on the campaign settings you choose (e.g., demographics, budget).



*__Note:__ Creator support is only available to those in the YouTube Partner Programme.

FAQs

Are the views and subscribers from Promote legitimate?

Yes, all views and subscribers you gain through a Promote campaign are legitimate.

When you run a promotion, your video is shown as an ad to real YouTube users. These viewers make a conscious choice to watch your ad and can choose to subscribe to your channel directly from it. These are not bots—they are genuine members of the YouTube community who you've reached through advertising. A promotion may kickstart a viewer's relationship with your channel, and if you continue to provide content that's interesting and valuable to them, there are plenty of ways for them to engage once they're aware of you.

Keep in mind that when we look at eligibility for the YouTube Partner Programme, only organic subscribers will be counted to keep an even playing field for those interested in joining the programme.

Why do my promotions run at odd times or mostly in some countries?

In order to ensure consistent campaign performance, you may see your campaign serving in various geographies and at different times of the day due to optimised targeting.

FAQs

How do promotions find the right viewers for my video?

We utilise various signals from both your content and potential viewers to match promotions to viewers.

What's the difference between Promote in YouTube Studio and YouTube Engagements in Google Ads?

The Audience Growth goal in Promote and YouTube Engagements that optimises for YouTube Channel Subscriptions in Google Ads are the same product. Promote has a different, easier to use interface to make running a campaign easier. Engagements in Google Ads have more robust reporting and campaign settings. Choose Promote if you want a simpler, easier to use offering. If you want deeper insights and more control, use Engagements.

Do subscribers and watch time from ads count toward my YouTube Partner Programme goals?

No. Thresholds for the Partner Programme are based on organic subscribers and watch time.

FAQs

If subscribers and watch time do not count for YouTube Partner Programme eligibility, why would I pay to promote my channel?

While subscribers you gain from ads do not count toward programme eligibility, the views, comments, and overall channel engagement create a more robust channel that is more likely to attract future subscribers and brand deals. Some creators promote to increase affiliate sales or website traffic. Others sell their own products or services. Subscribers are powerful, but that is not the only way to benefit from a larger audience on YouTube.

Promote is an advertising product, and designed to be complementary to organic growth you see on your channel. It can help you discover new audiences and gives you more control over who sees and interacts with your content. Subscribers, views and overall engagement from Promote can make your channel more well-rounded and set you up to grow your audience or business.

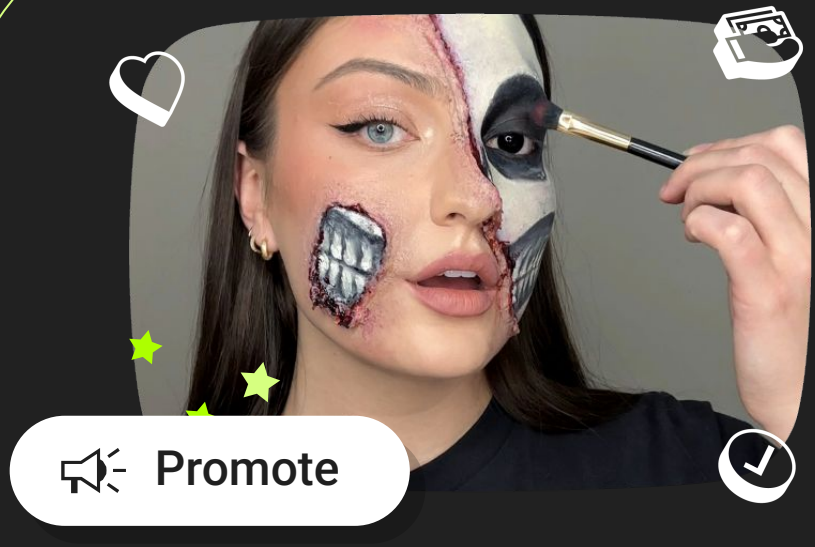
What do I do if my campaign or account is suspended?

All Promote campaigns must adhere to YouTube's advertising policies and community guidelines. If not, your ads may be disapproved and prevented from running or in severe cases, your ads account may be suspended.


If you believe there's been an error, you can contact support by clicking on one of your promotions and scrolling down to Promotions support.
